

BATTLEGROUND AFGHANISTAN

The Frontlines Are Changing

HAMILTON WENDE

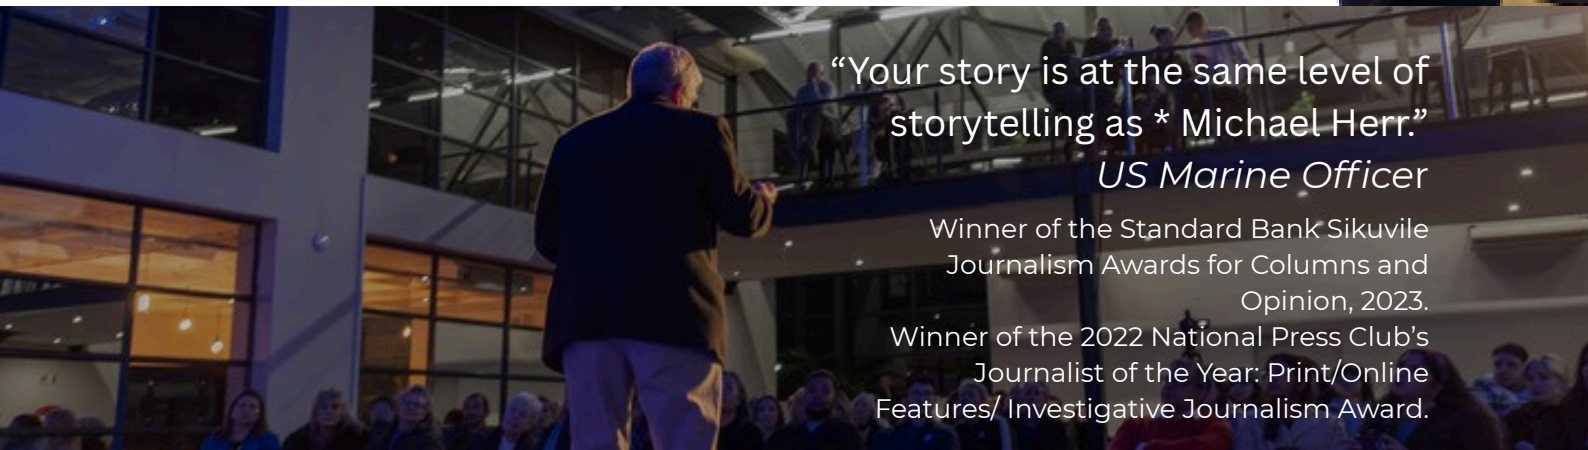

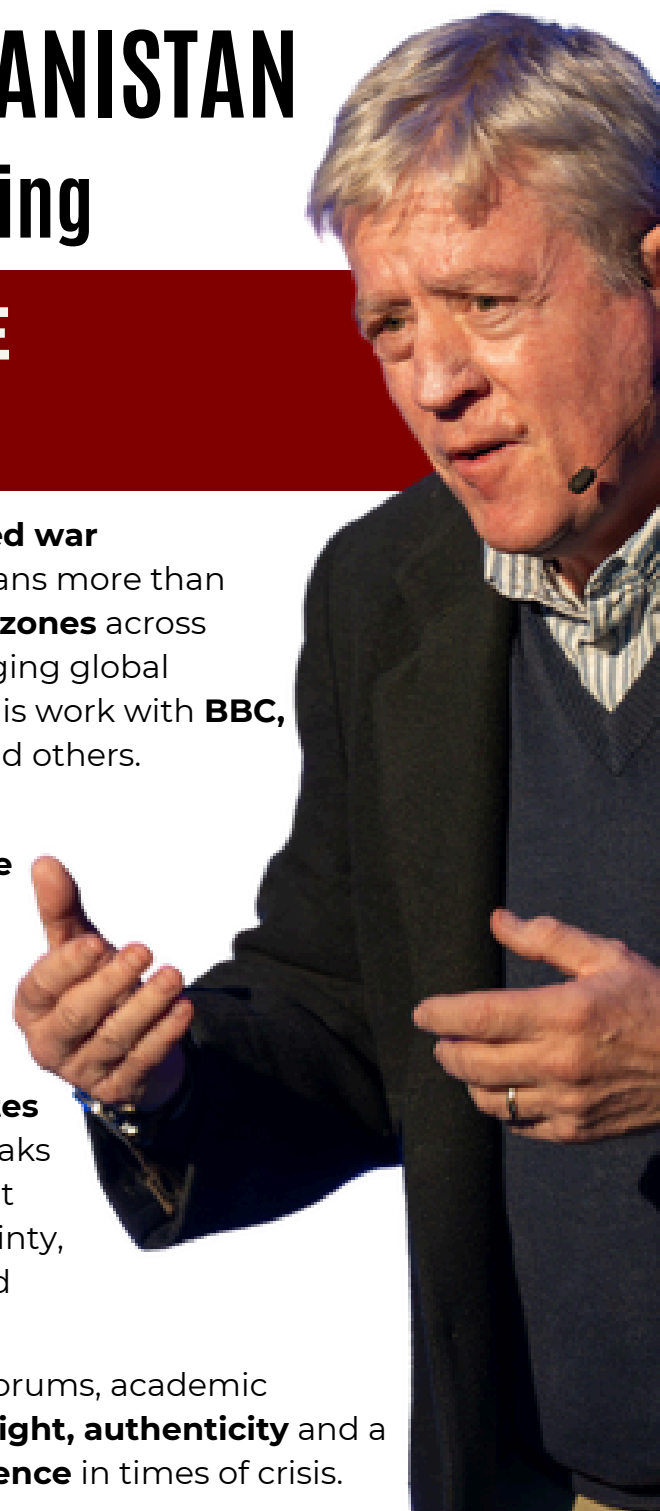

War Correspondent | Author | Media Producer |
Keynote Speaker

Hamilton Wendé is an internationally respected war correspondent and storyteller whose career spans more than four decades. He has reported from 17 conflict zones across Africa, the Middle East, and Central Asia, bringing global audiences powerful frontline insights through his work with BBC, CNN, National Geographic, Al Jazeera, NBC and others.

As a producer and author of both fiction and non-fiction, Hamilton blends deep investigative experience with a storyteller's instinct. His books, including the Afghanistan-inspired Red Air, offer gripping perspectives on conflict, humanity and resilience.

On stage, Hamilton delivers compelling keynotes that go far beyond battlefield narratives. He speaks with clarity, empathy and lived authority about leadership under pressure, navigating uncertainty, courage, trauma, and the rebuilding of lives and systems after upheaval.

Whether addressing corporate teams, defence forums, academic audiences or literary events, Hamilton brings insight, authenticity and a profound understanding of the human experience in times of crisis.

"Your story is at the same level of storytelling as * Michael Herr."
